SKIES BRIGHTEN FOR EMANUEL NASH

Coroner's Jury: Find That Baker's Death Was Due to Typhoid Fever.

The coroner's jury sitting in the case of George Baker, who died at the settling basin on Wednesday, rendered their verdict yesterday afternoon after much deliberation. The verdict was that Baker came to his death by typhold fever. It was thought that the jury' would find that the death was caused by the mad that the death was caused by the wound alleged to have been inflicted on the head of the dead mun by Emanuel Nash, who is now in jall awaiting the session of the grand jury.

Dr. Deas stated yesterday that after a careful post mortem examination, at which time the man's brain was expected as well as his intestines. It was amined, as well as his intestines, it was amined, as well as his intestines, it was found that there was no sign of brain fever, as the brain was in a normal state, but the investigation brought out the fact that the man had died of typhold fever. Every symptom showed this end-the-dury unanimously settled upon the verdict rendered.

Emanuel Nash, who, it was thought, would have the charge of murder added, his indictipent, will now only have to nawer the charge of assault and battery. Nash's attoricy, James A. Rustorly manner the various moods suggested by the chanking seasons of the year.

The music committee has under consideration the advisability of selecting one of the great Wagner operas for the secular programme of the second night. There has been a growing tendency of late for oratoric societies to give some of the best operas in oratoric style.

The committee, however, will carefully weigh all these considerations before making a decision.

His Friend, Major Sands.

It is not at all unlikely that former Senator David Bennett 11III, of New York, may spend a few days in Richmond after the arduous duties of the present compaign are over, provided his legal engagements will permit him to do so. It is known that Major William H. Sands, of this city, between whom and Senator Hill a warm personal friendship has long existed, has extended to the New York leader an invitation to visit Richmond and to be his guest after the campaign, and that the senator has replied that he will be delighted to avail himself of the opportunity, if he can find the time, but that he anticipates that his business in the Supreme Court will have accumulated to such an extent as to demand much of his attention.
